MAMMOTH THRONG GREETS ROOSEVELT

Overflow Crowd Jams Madison Square Garden to Hear Progressives

GREAT RECEPTION FOR T. R.

The Colonel is Given Demonstration Which Lasts 42 Minutes—Straus and Gov. Johnson Also Make Short Speches.

New York, Oct. 30.—Showing no physical evidence of the shock of his attempted assassination in Milwaukee, October 14th, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt tonight faced for an hour and twenty minutes a Progressive political rally which gave many thousands of his fellow New Yorkers a chance to accord him an uproarous welcome.

For 42 minutes after his entrance into crowded Madison Square Garden, Colonel Roosevelt stood at the edge of the high speaker's platform unable to make himself heard above the din of cheers, songs and band music.

His gestures to the crowd for silence served only to intensify the noises and when after 20 minutes of cheering Colonel Roosevelt determined to begin his speech the immense audience was swung off into another period of cheering by the beginning of the chant:

"We want Teddy!" "We want Teddy!"

Colonel Roosevelt then refused to sit down or to leave the rail that edged the flimsy platform. Senator Dixon and Governor Johnson urged him to be seated, but he maintained his standing position throughout the entire demonstration, and when opportunity finally came for him to begin his speech, he began it with a request to the police to maintain order.

The attention and silence that greeted the address by Colonel Roosevelt was as marked as the demonstration that preceded it. At the first attempts to interrupt with applause the Presidential candidate motioned imperatively with his left hand for silence, and he accompanied this gesture with a shake of the head which made the crowd realize his desire to be allowed to speak without interruption. The immense Garden was crowded to its doors and thousands of persons were turned away.

Governor Hiram Johnson, Progressive candidate for Vice President; Oscar S. Straus, candidate for Governor of New York, preceded Colonel Roosevelt.

Colonel Roosevelt adhered to the text of his prepared speech without changing scarcely a word throughout. His voice was full and strong, penetrating to the extreme corners of the ampitheatre. His right hand, because of the wound in his right side, was scarcely moved in gestures, although he tapped with it emphatically several times upon the railing. He gestured vigorously with his left arm throughout his speech.

The rowds about Madison Square Garden were orderly, but the police exercised extreme care to prevent any confusion. Six men were arrested during the evening, within and without the hall for refusing to obey the strict orders as to open aisles and against overcrowding. The scenes in the neighboring streets and squares were such as only big political demonstrations call forth.

Colonel Roosevelt, when he arrived, was strongly guarded and although the flashlight men got a picture or two, it was from a distance, for no one was allowed to approach when the colonel left his automobile. He was escorted into the building by way of a fire escape and left the building by the same route.

Immense Crowd Present.

Madison Square Garden, New York, Oct. 30.—A crowd that jammed Madison Square Garden from floor to roof and overflowed through three blocks of surrounding streets, greeted the leaders of the Progressive party tonight at the mass meeting marking the first public appearance of Col. Roosevelt since the attack made upon him in Wilwaukee October 14th. Governor Hiram W. Johnson, candidate for Vice President, and Oscar Straus, candidate for Governor of New York, spoke to the immense crowd before Col. Roosevelt reached the hall. A sea of waving bandanas and a great chorus of yells greeted the candidates as they appeared upon the platform and it was 8:20 before Senator Joseph M. Dixon, chairman of the National Committee, could gain order to present Mr. Straus as the first speaker.

Mr. Straus spoke but a few minutes. He declared Roosevelt when he appointed him Secretary of Commerce and Labor had told him to "tilt the balance in favor of humanity."

The crowd was entertained nearly two hours with moving pictures of the Roosevelt Western tour. Cheers greeted every appearance of Col. Roosevelt on the films and the cheering swelled to such proportions when the speakers appeared on the platform that the intervention of the band was necessary to enable Governor Johnson and Mr. Straus to begin their speeches.

Col. Roosevelt reached the hall at 9:15, while Governor Johnson was stil speaking. His passage through

SHERMAN CROSSES THE GREAT DIVIDE

Gradually Failing All Day, Vice President Succumbs At 9:42.

DECLINE BEGAN AUGUST 21ST.

Exertion Incident to Notification Ceremonies Proved Too Much for Him—Sketch of Sherman's Life and Career

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 30.—After a long illness, Vice President James Schoolcraft Sherman died at his home in this city at 9:42 o'clock tonight of uremic poisón, caused by Bright's disease.

He had been sinking since early morning and it was realized that death was only a question of a few hours.

There was a slight relief shortly after 7 o'clock caused by an apparent improvement in the condition of the kidneys, but it did not prove real or lasting and at best gave only temporary hope.

At 9 o'clock the patient's temperature rose to 106. From that time his condition rapidly became worse until the end.

Mr. Sherman was unconscious when the end came and had been in that condition for hours.

All the members of the immediate family were witnesses to the final scene. In addition to Mr. Sherman there were in the death chamber their three sons, Sherrill, Richard U., and Thomas M. Sherman, and their respective wives; R. M., and Sanford Sherman, brothers of Mr. Sherman, and Mrs. L. B. Moore and Mrs. H. J. Cookingham, sisters of Mr. Sherman.

Soon after Mr. Sherman's death, Dr. Fayette H. Peck, the attending physician, issued the following bulletin:

"The Vice President died at 9:21 P. M., without regaining consciousness for a moment. He was perfectly quiet. He died in the presence of his wife, her brother and sister, his two brothers and his three sons and their wives. He had been entirely unconscious since 7 o'clock, when he had a period of partial consciousness lasting for about 15 minutes. He died in a uremic coma as a result of Bright's disease, heart disease and arterio sclerosis."

Mrs. Sherman bore up bravely under the shock of her husband's death, as also did the other members of the family. Although it was said at the house that the hopelessness of Mr. Sherman's fight against death had been realized since Friday, the blow nevertheless was a crushing one.

A few of the intimate friends of the family called tonight to express their sympathy, among them Dr. A. H. Holden, pastor of Christ Reform church, where the Shermans worship.

Soon after the Vice President's death it was announced that the members of the family wished to be left undisturbed and that no arrangements for the funeral would be made before tomorrow.

Dr. Peck remained at the Sherman home for a time and notified several of Mr. Sherman's friends by telephone that the end had come.

The announcement of the Vice President's death spread quickly through the city. Universal sorrow was expressed and immediate steps were taken for the proper recognition of the sorrowful event. Mr. Sherman was regarded as the first citizen of the city and all differences growing out of politics died with him.

The mayor gave out a statement voicing the general grief and the big bell at City Hall, as well as many church bells tolled out the doleful news to a public to which it was not news.

Not only did the Republican organization take proper recognizance of the event, but the Progressives announced their intention of cancelling all meetings until after the Vice President's funeral. Governor Johnson, who so long as Mr. Sherman lived was his rival for Vice Presidential honors, was to have spoken here tomorrow night in behalf of the Progressive ticket, but his address like all other events of the kind, has been deferred.

The Democrats also signified their intention of removing a Wilson and Marshall banner which had been flung across one of the city streets and of suspending all political activity until after the funeral.

In the course of his tribute Mayor Baker said:

"Mr. Sherman has long been identified with the business interests of Utica. He was ever alert in taking advantages for the city. His home life was beautiful. It was a model for all American families. He found the greatest pleasure when summoned by those who loved him as a husband and father and it is there that his genial presence will be missed. Stricken as he was with an illness which required constant watchfulness, Mr. Sherman bore it with a fortitude which exemplified the strong characteristics of the man."

The mayor ordered that the flags on all city buildings should be placed at half mast and suggested that a sim-

NUNS DIE TO SAVE ORPHANS

Five Sisters of Charity Sacrifice Their Lives in Saving Their Charges From Fire Which Destroys Orphanage.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 30.—Five sisters of charity gave their lives to save their charges, one little orphan was burned to death and another is missing in a fire which practically destroyed St. John's Orphanage here early today. The dead are:

Mother Mary of the Cross, who was Katherine Rossiter, 51 years old, a native of Dublin, Ireland.

Mother Mary Francis Pasteur (Sylvia Simpasteur), 65 years old, native of Lyons, France.

Sister Mary Leacadia (Catherine Nolan), 35 years of age, native of Dublin, Ireland.

Sister Mary Peter Claver (Catherine Stevein) 29 years old, native of Dublin, Ireland.

Sister Mary Monica (Martha Montez), 60 years old, native of Chihuahua, Mexico.

George Yorke, orphan, aged 12.

Francis O'Brien, orphan, 2 years old.

Charles Mattlock, an orphan, is missing and thought to be dead.

The injured:

Sister Mary Kostka (——— Farrell), native of Keldar, Ireland, back broken, will probably die.

Miss A. DeTemple, native of Germany, an employe, body burned and bruised.

Miss E. Standish, native of St. Hedwig, an employe, body bruised and burned.

The two latter, physicians declare, are not seriously hurt.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. Eighty-seven orphan children, ranging in age from two to 12 years, and nine nuns were in the building when the fire started. The nuns nobly sacrified their own lives for the helpless little ones, remaining in the structure until the building itself began to crumble and fall.

The death of the mother superior, Mary of the Cross, was a demonstration of unparalleled courage. She returned to the dormitory when she heard the cry of a little child, forgotten in the hurry and excitement. A moment later she appeared at the window in the front of the building with the child in her arms.

Fire Chief Wright attempted to save her, but before he reached her the mother superior and the child disappeared. The flooring had been burned away and she had fallen through to the lower floor, where her lifeless body was recovered later.

The three nuns who escaped helped in taking the children from the blazing structure and were marching them across the yard when the walls began falling. Sister Kostka in jumping from the fourth floor window to reach a life net evidently lost her balance. As her body left the window she

SPENT $8,000 TO KILL BILL

International Harvester Co., Paid Law Firm to Defeat Legislation Designed to Prohibit "Exclusive Agent" Clause

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Testimony that the International Harvester Company in 1903 paid a law firm a fee of $8,000 to defeat a bill in the Kansas Legislature, designed to prohibit the corporation from using an "exclusive agent" clause in its contracts with its commission-selling representatives, was given today by Rodney B. Swift, former head of the law department of the McCormick Harvester Company, and later connected with the consolidated company, in the hearing of the government's dissolution suit.

Mr. Swift testified that he was instructed by Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester Company and Charles Deering, chairman of the executive committee, to go to Kansas, attend to the matter and "fix it up." The witness said he arranged with W. H. Rossington, of the law firm of Rossington, Husted and Smith, of Topeka, to prevent the passage of the bill and that later the firm presented a bill for $8,000, which was paid by the company.

Swift declared that Attorney Rossington, who died several years ago, told him that he had expended the money in preventing the passage of the bill in the Kansas Legislature.

Edwin F. Grosvenor, special assistant to the United States Attorney General, introduced the subject by reading into the record the minutes of a directors' meeting of the International Harvester Company, calling attention to the bill pending in the Kansas Legislature and authorizing Cyrus H. McCormick and Charles Deering to take such action as they deemed necessary in the matter.

The witness then gave the story of his connection with the affair.

"Did the bill pass?" asked Attorney Grosvenor.

"It did not," replied the witness, with a smile.

"Was the procedure in the Kansas matter unusual?"

"It was not unusual to employ attorneys in such matters," replied the witness.

Counsel for the government questioned the witness in regard to the binder twine branch of the business and asked if several others had not gone into the manufacture of the article.

"Did the International Harvester Company take steps to prevent the passage of that Illinois prison bill?"

"I have been told it did," said the witness.

Counsel for the defendant objected on the ground that the answer was hearsay evidence, and the question was withdrawn.

Swift said H. M. Daniels was in charge of the binder twine branch of

THE SENATORIAL PRIMARY

Democratic State Chairman Webb Addresses Letter In General to Registrars and Pollholders For Contest Nov. 5th

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 30.—Hon. Charles A. Webb, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, issued a statement tonight bearing on the work of the judges of election for the Senatorial primary and their construction of who shall have the right to participate. The letter by the State chairman is addressed to James E. Lambeth, Thomasville, N. C., who is one of the judges for the primary in his county and made extended inquiry of the State chairman along with others as to these matters. Chairman Webb says:

"I have the honor of acknowledging the receipt of your letter of October 29th stating that you were a Senatorial pollholder and that there is considerable confusion in your vicinity since the adoption of the recent resolution by the executive committee relative to the Senatorial primary. Answering your first question, 'What is to prevent a voter from casting his Senatorial vote first and then going to the other box and voting any sort of ticket he may desire?' I call to your attention Section 4 of the rules adopted by the State convention which reads as follows: 'That all electors who shall have voted the Democratic ticket in the election on said Tuesday, November 5th, 1912, shall be entitled to vote in 'either or both primary elections, herein provided for,' and also to Section 10, which prescribes the duties of the pollholders and, among other things, provides that they 'shall permit only such electors who shall have voted the Democratic ticket in general election on said day to vote in the said primary election shall determine all challenges, etc.' From these two sections, you will observe that an elector shall first vote the Democratic ticket in the general election before he shall be permitted to vote in the Senatorial primary. This requirement is mandatory and under no circumstances can any person vote in the Senatorial primary until after he shall have voted in the general election.

"Answering your second question, 'Will it be my duty to ask a voter whether or not he has cast his vote for any Republican or any opposing ticket,' in my opinion it is not necessary for you to ask this question unless you have some doubt as to the voter's qualification to participate in the primary. If the voter is challenged, as is permitted by Rule 17, it is the duty of the pollholders to ascertain whether the voter has complied with the rules. They may, in my opinion, question the voter himself or the

SHERMAN'S DEATH OPENS DISCUSSION

Question of Vice Presidential Succession Is Now Brought Up

SOME LIKELY CONTINGENCIES

National Committee Has Been Called to Select a Successor to Vice President Sherman—Available Candidates.

New York, Oct. 30.—The death of Vice President Sherman gives point to the serious discussion of the question of the succession. There is no provision of law for filling a vacancy caused by the death or retirement of a Vice President. The fact that Mr. Sherman was a candidate for re-election at the time of his death is giving much concern.

It will not be necessary to make any change in the ballots already printed for November as cast directly for the Vice President. Electors are chosen to cast the ballots of their constituents for candidates for President and Vice President and while there is a moral obligation resting on those electors to support the nominees of the party, the instructions are merely directory and not mandatory.

The death of Mr. Sherman will relieve them if elected from the moral obligation to vote for him. As it is a party matter and the governing body in the party is the Republican National Committee, it will be the proper function of that committee to recommend to them a candidate for Vice President to be voted for by them. It will be essential to have concerted action in either of two contingencies—first if the Republican ticket is successful, and second, if the election is to be thrown into the House of Representatives.

If no Presidential electors receive a majority of electoral votes next Tuesday, then, by the constitution, the election will be thrown into the House of Representatives and the candidates to be voted on in the House of Representatives by States would be limited to those voted for by electors in the electoral college; but the House of Representatives, as at present constituted, would be unable to make a decision, because the States vote units and about one-half of the States are represented in the Congress by Democratic members. The decision would therefore go to to the Senate. The Senate is limited in its choice to those two candidate who recieve the highest number of votes for Vice President in the electoral college. If it results on Tuesday that the decision rests with Congress, the selection of the candidate for Vice President has the utmost importance, because the Democrats are in a minority in the present Senate, and if a Republican candidate for Vice President is selected, he succeeds to the Presidency.

Already there has been discussion of the availability of Governor Hadley, Governor Deneen, Senator Borah, Senator Cummins, Senator LaFolleite, former Vice President Fairbanks, Senator Root, Senator Burton, Senator Lodge, Governor Goldsborough, and others.

National Committee Called

New York, Oct. 31.—Chairman Hilles, of the Republican National Committee, shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, announced that he had called a meeting of the National Committee for November 1st, in Chicago, to select a successor to the late James S. Sherman, as the Republican candidate for Vice President.

Wilson and Marshall Campaign Committee Almost Certain of $10,000.

BOYS AND GIRLS GETTING BUSY

Two Contestants Entered Lists Yesterday—The Prize Within Reach of Anyone Yet—At Local Headquarters.

WANTED TODAY—One hundred public-spirited Wilmingtonians to come forward with whatever they can to help this city make good on its proposition to raise $10,000 for the campaign fund of Wilson and Marshall. Make checks payable to W. A. McGirt, Chairman, who will be glad to send a representative or give any further information.

That is the urgent appeal that comes to every public spirited man and woman in Wilmington TODAY. The amount must be in hand by Saturday night and forwarded to general headquarters in New York. It has been impossible for members of the teams in addition to their business to see everyone who should be interested in the election of the Democratic candidate for President, hence this general appeal is now made with the hope that those who have not been approached will, in this emergency, help Wilmington Win With Wilson.

The election of Governor Wilson as President with this handsome contribution of Wilmington people to help finance his campaign will give the city an especial standing before the next Democratic administration at Washington and if impelled by no other than selfish consideration, it behooves every loyal Wilmingtonian to help with this movement.

Yesterday the teams did very well with the cash contributions and three enterprising young Wilmingtonians jumped into the watch contest with an energy that will bring results before Saturday night. The reports of two of these boys' committees may be found in the recapitulation of the day's business appended hereto. It is not too late for still others to join this contest as none of the contestants thus far has anything like a lead that cannot be overcome. Some bright young girl has a splendid chance of jumping in today and by Saturday night turning in an amount of contributions that will win the handsome lady's watch that is offered in the event the winner is not a boy. Chairman W. A. McGirt will be glad to give all information and to furnish each contestant with a supply of contributor's buttons that will make canvassing easy. These buttons may be had by applying to Democratic headquarters in the Fleet store at Front and Princess streets.

Yesterday morning in making acknowledgment of previous day's contributions the name of Mr. M. W. Jacobi, an additional contribution of $10, was omitted by mistake, although the total was given correctly. Acknowledgment of the additional contribution is now made.

At headquarters, Front and Princess streets, arrangements are being made for the final rally to be held Saturday night when a personal message will be delivered to all Democratic voters by Governor Wilson through W. P. Stacy, Esq., of the Wilmington bar. Everybody is invited to come into headquarters at any time and make themselves at home. On election night, returns from all over the United States will be received by special wire in the headquarters and everybody is invited to drop in and make themselves at home.

Word from National headquarters comes that every cent that can be spared will be needed on the final days of the campaign for expenditures in a perfectly legitimate way. It is stated from New York that both the other parties, seeking to stem the tide that is setting Wilsonward, are prepared to spend any amount of money during the closing hours of the campaign. Will the people sit idly by and allow the interests again to control the gov-

PLEADS FOR STATE TICKET.

Wilson Appeals to Jerseyites to Send Democrats to Legislature.

Burlington, N. J., October 30.—Governor Woodrow Wilson admittedly took a long look ahead today and made a vigorous appeal in two counties hitherto Republican to send Democrats to the New Jersey Legislature, which convenes January 1st, next.

While the Presidential nominee touched often on national issues, he chiefly directed his energy in three speeches toward overcoming the present Republican majority in the State Legislature, to ensure the choice of a Democratic Governor to succeed himself in the event of his election to the Presidency, and to obtain also a Democratic Legislature on joint ballot to send William Hughes to the United States Senate. The Governor was enthusiastically received at Cape May Court House, Wildwood and Burlington, where he spoke, but he declared he was not seeking the suffrages of the people in his own behalf, but for two instruments—the Democratic Legislature and a Democratic United States Senator, to assist the cause of the Democratic party in the Nation.

"I am not standing alone," he said, at Wildwood. "I am not the Democratic party. I cannot as President, or as Governor, do anything but what the great bodies of free men assist me to do, and if they are Wilson men in Cape May county they will vote the Democratic ticket.

"If you cannot vote for these gentlemen for the Legislature, do not vote for me.

"I am not a candidate for a pedestal. I am not a candidate to be set up in lonely dignity to suffer the intolerable disappointment of being left alone, unable to do the great things which the American people will expect of me, if they honor me with their suffrage. If you cannot back me up, do not put me up all by myself and then desert me. If you believe in me, make it possible for me to do something. No man in a great commonwealth or in a great nation can do anything by himself except talk, and if my voice comes back to me I shall continue to talk, but talking is not business unless it means that men are going to be drawn together by the public discussion or great questions into a common co-operative, irresistible force.

"Do not elect me captain unless you are going to give me a team. For if I am captain and either of these Republican scrub teams is put alongside of me, I cannot do anything at all. What I leave with you, therefore, is this suggestion: It is a team or nothing. Is that a bargain? You will go back on me, will you go back on your Governor, if you vote for me and do not give us a team. Therefore, my bargain, my exhortation to you today is, go to the polls and vote by this route, either give me a team or vote for somebody else.

"It is not possible in the next two years or the next four years for either branch of the Republican party to get such strength of such extended organization, or so many men in office as to control the several branches of the Federal government. There is only one organization big enough united enough, clear enough in its purpose, to do that, and that is the Democratic organization, and what do you think of the Democratic organization? You have seen a sample of its service in the State of New Jersey. Has it dealt candidly with you? Has it tried to carry out the things that you voted for again and again before you voted for it in 1910? The Democratic party did not have anything new to offer you in 1910. It had only those things that both parties had been promising you for a generation, almost; but the difference was that you voted for the Democrats in 1910, and they carried out the programme which you had voted for in other instances and commanded the Republican party to carry out and they had not carried out. That is the plain record of the State. The Democratic party in New Jersey has served you according to its word, and has redeemed every promise that it made.

"Now, it happens that the Democratic party in the nation is led by the same man who led the Democrats in New Jersey, and I am not aware of having changed my point of view or my purposes in the slightest degree."

seemed to stumble, or lost her footing and came down head first. Her body struck the railing on the second story and threw her out of line with the net. Her back was broken as were her limbs. She was carried into the hospital unconscious and her life is despaired of.

The rescue of the orphans from death in the fire is considered remarkable. Fire Chief Wright, one of the first on the scene after the alarm had been sounded, declared that the self-sacrifice of the nuns was all that saved the little ones.

While every Sister of Charity in the orphanage, at the time devoted her attention to the saving of the children, others from the hospitals gave assistance. In the rescue work Right Bishop J. W. Shaw rendered valuable service in carrying little orphans from the asylum. Father Hume, the chancellor and Father Duffy, chaplain, also risked their lives in the rescue of the orphans. Time and again they rushed into the building to return with some child lost in the excitement and confusion.

The dead nuns belonged to the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word.

MISSIONARY COUNCIL.

Interesting Proceedings at Charlotte Yesterday—The Work of Missions.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 30.—The report of Rev. R. W. Patton today to the Missionary Council of the Sewanee Department of the Protestant Episcopal Church, showed that during the past year this department has contributed to the cause of Home and Foreign Missions $62,000, being about $1 per capita. Mr. Patton stated that this is an increase in gifts on apportionment in every congregation, Sabbath School and auxiliary in almost every one of the 14 dioceses included in this department, and showing an increase fo 11 per cent. in 12 of the dioceses, 66 per cent. increase in the dioceses of Florida, and 40 per cent. increase in the Diocese of Atlanta. A comparison of this report with that submitted four years ago shows an increase of 55 per cent. for the entire department of Sewanee in contributions to missions, this being the largest increase shown by any one of the eight departments of the church. The discussion of this report occupied most of the morning session of the Council. Several of the ministers and laymen urged the importance of increased effort in the interest of the missionary enterprise upon the part of the whole church, and said that this awakening must begin with the Bishops and must reach from them to the clergy and then to the laity of the church.

The need of carrying out definite plans and methods of work which will bear larger results with less labor was emphasized also, and it was shown in this connection that at the present time 20 per cent. of the membership support every claim of the church and the 80 per cent. remained needed to be awakened to the sense of responsibility, and duty. The work of the Laymen's Missionary Movement and the Men and Religion Movement, were commended as valuable agencies in this connection and the carrying on of the every member canvass and the use of the duplex envelopes were commended in connection with the effort to be made to enlist the entire membership of the church in contributing to missions.

St. James' church, Wilmington, N. C., was cited by Mr. Patton as the pioneer church of the department in missionary awakening.

Another important address of the day was that of Rev. W. I. Claiborne, of the University of the South, at Sewanee. The subject of his address was "The University's Relation to the Missionary Enterprise." The keynote of this address was the duty of parents to give their children the same opportunities to receive Christian training as they give them to receive mental training. Speaking of State schools, he said, that the University of the South has no fight to make against any State school; that the State school has a work to do and it was all right in its place, but that the church school furnishes the Christian training for students and that students cannot become well rounded unless they receive careful physical, mental and spiritual training. "Church Settlement Work and Training Schools" furnished the subject of the discussion during the afternoon session.

Under the general topic, "What Laymen Are Doing for Church Extension at Home and Abroad", several addresses were delivered this evening during the dinner given under the direction of the laymen of the church.

NEW YORK LAUNCHED.

Greatest of World's Sea Fighters Takes Water at Brooklyn.

New York, Oct. 30.—The superdreadnaught New York, greatest of the world's sea fighters, was launched today at the New York Navy Yard, Brooklyn.

Forty thousand persons, including President Taft and the Secretary of the Navy, witnessed the ceremony.

Miss Elsie Calder, daughter of Representative William M. Calder, of Brooklyn, christened the ship.

To Miss Calder's great confusion she failed to break the champagne bottle on the vessel's bow. She struck the vessel with the bottle three times, but not with sufficient force to break the glass. As the vessel was sliding down the ways, however, a man grasped the rope to which it was attached and swung it with such force that it cleared the New York's prow and burst on the port side.

President Taft sat with Secretary Meyer, Governor Dix, Rear Admiral Osterhaus, J. P. Moragan and others on a platform just off the starboard of the dreadnaught. There were no speeches, but a marine band quickened the pulse of the assembled thousands with its music.

THE SENATORIAL PRIMARY

judges of the election or secure information from any other available source and if, on such investigation, it is found that the elector has voted the Democratic ticket and has not voted for any opposition candidate then it is the duty of the pollholders to permit him to vote in the Senatorial primary, otherwise, not to do so.

"Answering your third question, "If he should refuse to tell (how he voted, must we allow him the privilege of voting?' I am of the opinion that a mere refusal to answer would not disqualify a voter but that the pollholder should consider this refusal as a circumstance together with all the other facts in each particular case in deciding whether a voter is qualified.

"Further answering your letter, I feel it my duty to say that this Senatorial primary is to be a Democratic primary. Only electors who shall have voted the Democratic ticket should be permitted to participate in it. It is to be determined by Democratic voters and no persons except those who vote the Democratic ticket on November 5th should expect to be allowed to take part in it.

"At the meeting of the committee October 24th, a resolution was adopted reading as follows: "Resolved, that in the opinion of the committee the words 'Democratic ticket' as used in the fourth and tenth rules governing the Senatorial primary adopted by the State convention, shall be construed to permit any elector who shall have voted for the nominees of the Democratic party only, and who shall not have voted for any candidate or any ticket in opposition to the Democratic ticket, to vote in said primary.'

"This resolution did not repeal rules four and ten. They and this resolution, must be construed together and it is perfectly plain that they mean that only electors who shall have voted the Democratic ticket shall be permitted to vote in the Senatorial primary. The Democratic ticket means the nominees of the Democratic party, and only those electors who shall have voted substantially the Democratic ticket should be permitted to vote in it. However, no elector who votes substantially the Democratic ticket on November 5th, should be disqualified from voting in the Senatorial primary if he declines to vote for some of the candidates on the Democratic ticket provided he does not substitute the name of any candidate running in opposition to the regular party nominees.

"It is the duty of the pollholders to see that these rules are strictly complied with, and I am confident that you and all others will faithfully endeavor to do so. With kind regards and best wishes,

"C. A. WEBB,

NEW FREIGHT CLASSIFICATION

Becomes Effective Nov. 1st—Changes By Commerce Commission

Washington, Oct. 30.—The proposed new classification of freight by the Southern railroads will become effective on November 1st, with such changes from its original draft as have been suggested by the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

The commission recommended that the present agricultural implement list and the present machinery list be continued to such an extent as to maintain existing privileges as to mixed carloads, and that the carriers continue the present ratings on agricultural implements; that certain rules be withdrawn pending decision by the commission of the Western Classification case; and that certain proposed advances in rates be withdrawn.

To these suggestions the Southern carriers have acceded and the new classification will go into effect, although it is pointed out by the commission that it has not passed upon the propriety of all items in the classification and that any of them may be made the subject of formal complaint.

EASTERN CAROLINA FAIR.

Great Crowds at Newbern—Motorcycle Races—Senator Simmons.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Newbern, N. C., Oct. 30.—Today was educational day at the Eastern Carolina Fair and it is estimated that there were between 8,000 and 10,000 visitors in the city. The weather was ideal and the grounds were crowded. One of the chief events of the day was a five mile motorcycle race for amateurs. This was won by Archie Templeton, of Charlotte, time six minutes and 40 seconds.

David Morris, of this city, came second, 15 seconds behind.

In the five mile for professionals, Feuerstein, of Norfolk, made the winning run in five minutes and 38 seconds.

Senator Simmons will make an address at night and a big torchlight parade will be held. There have been no accidents of any sort.

ARRESTED FOR WHITE SLAVERY.

Georgia Farmers Charged With Keeping Girls Against Their Will.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 30.—Walter and Clarence Rhodes, brothers, and Walter Pounds, overseer for the former, all well known farmers of Burke county, Georgia, were arrested today charged with violating the white slave law. They were taken to Macon by Deputy United States Marshal J. P. Murray.

It is alleged that the three men went to Bath, S. C., and took Lula Addison, Susie James and Ola Frazier, three white girls, for an automobile ride and refused to carry them back home. Instead, the men headed for their Burke county farms where, for four weeks the girls claim they have been held in captivity and have not been allowed to communicate with their parents. A letter written by the Addison girl's mother revealed the whereabouts of the girls and Federal officials investigated. The girls told the officers that the men threatened to kill them if they tried to escape.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 30.—Allen Walters, a former artilleryman from Fort Monroe, indicted at Richmond on the charge of stealing Philippine bolo souvenirs from an army officer's home, today pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Waddill here and was given 60 days in jail.

the business. He said the International Harvester Company supplied 60 per cent of all the binder twine used in this country.

Swift testified that the profits of the McCormick Harvester Company aggregated $16,000,000 for the years 1900, 1901 and 1902, although the corporation was capitalized for but $2,500,000.

He contrasted the change in business methods after the organization of the International Harvester Company with the methods prior to 1902, when he said competition between the different companies was keen.

Previous to the organization of the alleged combination, the companies, he said, varied their prices to meet competition, took old machines in trade and allowed for repairs of new machines.

Attorney Edgar A. Bancroft said:

"The International Harvester Company refused to pay the bill of $8,000 until after Attorney Rossington had visited Chicago and assured Cyrus H. McCormick and other officers of the company that money had not been improperly used in defeating the bill in the Kansas Legislature. That was why the fee was not paid more promptly. Before he died Mr. Rossington wrote a letter to the Attorney General of Kansas in which he stated he had never used money improperly in defeating any legislation.

The truth of these charges were disproved several years ago and there is nothing new in the case."

BECKER IN SING SING

Sentenced to Die December 9th—Faithful Wife Near Him

Ossinging, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker is in the "death house" at Sing Sing prison tonight, under sentence to die in the electric chair, during the week of December 9th, the convicted murderer of the gambler, Herman Rosenthal. He was brought here from New York today immediately after sentence pronounced upon him by Justice Goff in the court room where he was found guilty six days ago.

Becker's execution will be stayed, however, by the filing of a notice of appeal from the verdict. In this lies Becker's only hope of escape from death. His last words before the gates of the prison were shut behind him this afternoon, were: "I come here an innocent man. I never had a chance. I was railroaded. But the fight has only begun. I expect a reversal of the verdict and a new trial."

Becker, manacled to a deputy sheriff, arrived at the prison at 1:30 o'clock after a 20-minutes walk through the streets of the village surrounded by several hundred persons curious to see him. With stolid countenance and head erect, Becker withstood the ordeal without losing his composure.

A window of the warden's office framed a woman's tear-stained face, as Becker marched up the prison walk. It was that of the convicted man's wife, who had accompanied him from New York and had driven ahead of him from the railroad station. Becker waved his hand sadly as the woman threw a kiss.

An hour later, after the formality of taking the prisoner's pedigree had been disposed of, Becker was in his death cell in solitary confinement and entered as prisoner No. 62,499. Ten other condemned murderers occupied cells in the "death house."

Mrs. Becker was allowed to see her husband through the steel screen of his cell door before she departed, but was forbidden entrance. She proposes to make her residence in Ossining during her husband's confinement and will be allowed to visit him daily, but not to enter his cell.

Famous "Pint of Cough Syrup" Receipt

No Better Remedy at Any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing one pint of granulated sugar and ½ pint of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequaled remedy for whooping cough and croup.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this recipe.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Profits Doubled With The Benthall Peanut Picker!

If you grow peanuts and do not use a Benthall Peanut Picker, you actually lose money by not owning one.

The Benthall makes peanut growing doubly profitable.

The wages you pay—the losses from delays in not getting your crop early to market—the losses from birds and stealing—cost you more than a machine.

If you own a Benthall, you and your boys can do the work of a hundred hands, and do it better. You send your crop to market early—secure highest prices. You stop the theft of your crop.

Growers now see that hand picking is far too costly.

The folly of attemping to "thresh" them has been plainly shown.

For machines that "thresh" them destroy profits.

They crack the nuts—and cracked nuts will not keep.

They grind the vines to smithereens—and these vines are the equal of alfalfa for feed—worth from $12 to $20 per ton.

Contrast such machines with the Benthall.

The vines are fed to the Benthall just as grain to the treshing machine.

The peanuts are pulled off the vine without injury to the shell. The machine picks as delicately as human fingers—hundreds of times more rapidly.

Many buyers give preference to Benthall picked nuts.

The vines are saved in perfect condition for hay.

The recleaning and bagging attachment makes it unnecessary to run the peanuts over for seed the second time.

This is the picker of proved worth—proved out in the peanut fields of Virginia.

Either Spanish or Virginia varieties are picked equally as well.

It is mounted—ready to hitch—as you would a farm wagon. You can easily move it from place to place.

There are models suited for horse or engine power—machines that are made interchangeable.

Every year sees more farmers using the Benthall. It has supplanted all other methods in many sections. And the demand this year promises to be greater than we can supply.

THE MACHINE THAT PAYS FOR ITSELF.

If you don't want to let profits slip thru your fingers—if you want to make money growing peanuts, write us for our folder "How the Benthall Pays For Itself." Sent Free upon request.

THE GREENSBORO TRAGEDY

Further Particulars of Killing That Has Stirred Piedmont North Carolina—Several Personal Injury Suits Tried

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, Oct. 30.—The killing of Capt. G. G. Thompson, division freight agent of the Southern Railway here, by his chief clerk, William F. Blair, at the latter's home yesterday, has stirred Greensboro as no other tragedy or incident in many years. Relatives and friends of Blair arrived from Wilkes county last night to give aid to the man in trouble, while friends and relatives of the slain official also came to Greensboro to take to Culpeper, Va., all that is mortal of Mr. Thompson.

It is stated that Blair as the result of the death of his father some time ago and the division of a large estate, now in progress, will have at his command something like $25,000 with which to fight for his life and the assistance of brothers and sisters equally well to do. Among the best legal talent in Greensboro and this section has been retained to defend him and it is certain the trial, when the case is finally brought into the courts, will be one of greatest legal battles ever witnessed here. It is understood as practically certain that the defense will interpose a plea of insanity.

Developments at the coroner's inquest last evening indicated plainly that when Mr. Thompson yesterday dictated to his stenographer a note to Blair dismissing him from the service of the Southern Railway on account of neglect of duty, virtually signed his death warrant. This note, in dignified and most respectful tones, follows:

Mr. W. F. Blair, Greensboro, N. C.

My Dear Sir: It is with a great deal of regret that I am writing this, but I am forced to believe that you do not feel the interest in the welfare of this office that I think you should. I did receive a message on Friday last that you were indisposed and since that date I have not had any advice at all as to your condition or whether you were going to return here, and I am unwillingly forced to provide and protect myself with other assistance effective November 1st.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE G. THOMPSON.

The note of dismissal was sent to Blair, who, it is alleged, had been drinking heavily for the past several days, by a messenger boy. The note was given the house girl and shortly Blair called Thompson over the 'phone and requested that Thompson visit Blair at his home. Thompson said he was too busy; Blair insisted and Thompson finally consented although a mutual friend advised against the visit. Thompson reached Blair's home; was shown into the library; the house girl dismissed by Blair with instructions to close the door and, then, it is alleged, Blair carried out his murderous intention. Leastwise, in a few moments, shots were heard, the house girl ran screaming into the street and later Blair came out on the porch dressed in a bath robe and with his weapon reloaded and concealed beneath the garment. When a physician and the police arrived Thompson lay dead with five bullet holes in his body while Blair was talking incoherently. To a physician he declared he had shot his best friend and that if Thompson was dead he (Blair) would commit suicide. The weapon was wrenched from Blair's hand as he started to raise it to his own head. Blair's wife came upon the scene shortly after the killing and went with her husband to prison where she remained with him during the entire afternoon and late in the evening. Blair appeared almost on the verge of collapse after being taken under arrest by the police. The coroner's jury returned a verdict last night to the effect that Thompson came to his death from gunshot wounds and that Blair was responsible.

The man is in jail. Among the lawyers retained to defend the accused are Judge W. P. Bynum, E. J. Justice, R. R. King and A. B. Kimball, all of the local bar. One of the pathetic incidents of the tragedy was the calling over the telephone by Mrs. Thompson at the Blair home, where she had been told her husband had gone, with the request for him to come to dinner. At that instant the dead body of her husband was being taken from the house. Both Blair and Thompson were prominent here and the tragedy created much excitement on the streets and in every place of business.

Mr. Thompson was about 45 years of age and had been in the service of the Southern Railway since a boy of 12 or 15 years. He was a brother of J. S. B. Thompson, at one time a vice president of the Southern, and general freight manager and now at the head of a large concern in Atlanta. Blair came to Greensboro from North Wilkesboro several years ago and was regarded as a very expert and efficient man in the freight department. He was known to be a hard drinker and had been on several sprees of late months.

The North Carolina Public Service Corporation here was made defendant in another damage suit yesterday when a cause of action was filed by John A. Mendenhall by his next friend demanding of the defendant company $15,000. The suit is for alleged personal injuries received by the plaintiff due, it is alleged, to the negligence of the defendant company.

A verdict for $250 was rendered in Superior Court yesterday in a suit for $5,000 brought by J. C. Meredith, the plaintiff, against the Union Furniture Company, of High Point. The plaintiff claimed he received injuries due to the negligence of the company in the stacking of a pile of lumber and demanded $5,000. The jury thought $250 would cover all damages sustained and returned a verdict against the High Point company for that amount.

BICKETT AT WASHINGTON.

Simmons at Belhaven—Naval Reserves to Newbern—Other Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, N. C., Oct. 30.—A large and appreciative audience assembled in the Court House last evening and heard Attorney General Bickett deliver an address on the principles of Democracy. Mr. Bickett's speech was a perfect gem from a literary standpoint and was well received by his audience, bringing forth round after round of applause and doing much good for the cause of Democracy in Washington and Beaufort county.

Senator F. M. Simmons will speak at Belhaven, this county, tonight, in his own behalf in the fight for the Senatorship from North Carolina. The Norfolk Southern will run a special excursion from this city for the speaking and quite a large crowd of the Senator's admirers and adherents expect to go down for the occasion from this city.

The Sixth Division, North Carolina Naval Militia, under the command of Lieut. Commander Charles Lamb Morton, of this city, left this morning on a special train for Newbern where they will participate in the Eastern Carolina fair and take part in the prize drills which will be a feature of the fair. The local boys have been drilling hard for the past several weeks and go very well prepared and hoping to capture some of the prizes.

Two plays, "The Bull Terrier and the Baby" and "An Interrupted Proposal," will be presented in this city in the next two weeks for the benefit of the McIver Loan Fund, under the auspices of the local State Normal Alumnae, and the money raised in Beaufort county is to be used as a loan fund for Beaufort county girls at the State Normal. The case is composed principally of local talent and the plays promise to be very entertaining.

Large crowds are nightly attending the series of protracted meetings at the Baptist church and Rev. C. M. Rock, of Greenville, who is assisting the pastor, is preaching sermons of deep thought and power.

TRACK TEAM AT A. & M.

Annual Cross Country Run Saturday. Other Athletic Notes.

West Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 30.—Manager L. C. Hand, of the track team, has announced that the regular cross-country run will be held on Saturday afternoon, November 9th. The race will start at 4 o'clock at the Capitol Square and run out Hillsboro street and back to the Capitol Square a distance of three miles. There will be four prizes: First medal, $5.00, given by the Athletic Association; second, sweater, given by Whiting & Horton; third, pair of shoes, given by H. Rosenthal; fourth, hat, given by C. K. Boone, of Raleigh. The race last year was participated in by about 20 men, first place being won by F. C. Smith, in 17:11. There are a large number of men out training and this race will afford a good chance to see what kind of track material the Red and White will have this year.

The A. & M. students are very much interested in the organization of a basketball league, which was effected at a meeting of representatives of all the North Carolina Colleges, in Raleigh Saturday night. Representatives from the following colleges were present: Carolina, A. & M., Guilford, Wake Forest, Trinity and Elon. Last year was the first time that there has been a basketball team at A. & M. and only a few games were played, but it proved a very popular sport and all of the students are anxious to see it put on a substantial footing.

At a recent meeting of the battalion cotillon club, the following officers were elected: Cadet Major T. J. Hewitt, president; Cadet Capt. F. S. Hales, vice president; Cadet Lieut. A. C. Wilson, secretary and treasurer, and Cadet Capt. E. J. Jeffress, leader. This club was organized last year and proved very popular. Any member of the battalion can join the club and full dress uniform must be worn to the dances. The first dance will be given next Saturday night.

CANDIDATE CHASED DEER

An Incident of the Campaign In Bladen—One Bull Moose

(Special Star Correspondence.)

White Lake, N. C., Oct. 30.—Yesterday was the winding up of the campaign in Bladen county and while the people were waiting at the White Lake for the time to come for the speaking to commence some one discovered a deer swimming across the lake. Messrs. W. J. Melvin, Willie Thomas and Angus Cromartie, the only candidates present, took a boat and chased him, the deer having at least one-half mile the start on them. The deer was overtaken midway the lake and then the most exciting chase ever witnessed took place. Not having a gun, the men had to get near enough to strike him with the oars and by that time the deer would dodge like a rabbit and get several yards from the boat. Finally they got in reach of him and all three men in the boat got a good lick at him and killed him. The men were completely exhausted and had to rest several minutes before they could row back to land with him. Everyone present agreed that the sequel to this was that Mr. Cromartie had made a clean chase, after the one Bull Moose candidate in Bladen, and on next Tuesday will have conquered and banished him from the field.

INCREASE WEIGHT QUICKLY.

Simple Way for the Thin and Pale to be Plump and Rosy.

Samose can hardly be termed a medicine, it is in reality a flesh forming food. Taken before or after meals, it mingles with the food you eat, enables it to assimilate and readily digest, so as to make rich blood and pleasing plumpness.

After Samose has been used a week or ten days a noticeable gain in weight is seen. The sallow complexion will become rosy, the sunken cheeks will have a ruddy glow, the eyes will be bright, the breath sweet and the step elastic.

J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co.'s customers have told them of the remarkable results following the use of Samose, the great flesh forming food, and they are so thoroughly convinced of its reliability that they are selling it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it. You who are thin and in poor health cannot afford to let another day pass without getting a 50c box of Samose on those terms.

AFFAIRS AT STATE CAPITAL

Telephone Hearing at Hendersonville—Ideal Concrete Company and Real Estate Agency at Rowland Chartered

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 30.—November 29th is named by the Corporation Commission for a complete hearing of the Hendersonville telephone case before the full commission in the offices of the commission here. There was to have been a special hearing before Commissioner W. T. Lee, in Hendersonville yesterday but Mayor R. H. Staton, who is a Republican candidate for Congress in the Tenth district, was out in the campaign and the hearing was continued before the full committee in Raleigh. This is the case in which the Asheville Telephone Co., proposes to make an advance in the Hendersonville exchange tolls for service on account of improvements and increased number of subscribers.

The Ideal Concrete Co., of Wilmington, is chartered with $10,000 capital, by J. L. Bolton, Letitia Bolton and J. B. Davis as incorporators, for general concrete construction. Other charters are for The McKenzie-Ewing Realty Co., of Rowland, Robeson county, capital $50,000 authorized and $10,000 subscribed by J. P. Ewing, A. D. McKenzie and others. The Manteo Fish and Ice Co., of Manteo, capital $50,000 by T. S. Meekins and others. The Tuxedo Club, Hendersonville, capital $10,000 by D. S. Pace, J. Fuller Lyon and others for social and commercial club purposes.

There came today from Deputy Insurance Commissioner F. M. Jordan, at Asheville, to the State Department of Insurance, information that following his investigation of the J. H. Creasman fire there, he has procured the arrest of Will Moody, who is held under $1,000 bond for trial. Mr. Jordan also sends notice that the Oklahoma Oil, Gas and Coal Co., of Oklahoma, which the Department of Insurance has under the direction of Commissioner of Insurance, been "hounding" for several weeks on the charge of soliciting business in this State illegally, has given notice of its abandonment of effort to seek business in this State in the sale of stocks. The North Carolina law requires that such companies must get State license after being inspected and fully approved as to soundness of business methods and solvency by Insurance Commissioner Young.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Faison, N. C., Oct. 30.—At his country home near Faison, N. C., Thos. H. Carmine suddenly passed away, after a few hours' suffering from paralysis. The remains will be taken to Newbern, N. C., on Friday. Mr. Carmine came to Faison, N. C., about 12 years ago, and soon embarked extensively in truck farming, and by his energy and good judgment made a signal success in his chosen work. He was a faithful worker in the Methodist church, being a local ordained minister, but on account of his health, he could not do much work other than near home.

Wednesday, October 31, 1912.

Many men change their minds but they don't have enough change to leave any on the counter.

One reason for voting for Woodrow Wilson for President is that the trusts are for the two other candidates.

We hope the North Carolina Democrats who have been reckless with party harmony will be largely in the minority next Tuesday.

When a woman subscribes $10 to the campaign fund under the promise that prices will be made cheaper, she will be sure to keep her eye on the bargain counter.

"I don't feel a bit as though I had been shot," said the Third Termer on Tuesday. He is even suing a Western editor for creating the false impression that he was ever half shot.

Col. Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is grieved that there are only 2,500 cusswords and epithets in the English language. What's the matter with drawing on the Bull Moose language for some 10,000 more words suitable for the expression of contempt and malice?

No wonder the Republican party is in bad with the people. Instead of being the servant of the people it has been their taskmaster. Out of everybody's task it has exacted tribute for trusts and millionaire tariff beneficiaries. Every man who works has been made to work for those who have grown enormously rich by the infamous system of taxing the people for the benefit of corporations in which the people have no representation or interest at all.

Those who want an American President to have as many terms as the President of Mexico provided for himself, should vote for Roosevelt, the Third Termer. Those who want the trusts legalized and safeguarded by a commission appointed by Roosevelt and subject to his orders, should vote the Progressive party ticket. Those who want a President who scandalized the Presidency by using trust money to secure his election in 1904, should get in the game for the Bull Moose.

In the trolley cars of Wilmington is displayed a card bearing the picture of Roosevelt and the Big Stick, together with these words, "Let's put them back to work." The Big Stick is the best reason why Roosevelt is not needed at Washington. Free Americans want a servant in the White House and not a master who is ready to compel submission to his will. Those who regard themselves as subjects instead of citizens should by all means put Roosevelt and the Big Stick back to work in harness with George W. Perkins.

Previous to the Chicago convention, Governor Deneen, of Illinois, was one of the seven Governors who believed that Roosevelt was the man for the Republican nomination for President. After the convention nominated Taft, Governor Deneen accepted the situation and refused to leave his party to join another with different principles. In his Chicago speech, the Bull Moose denounced Deneen, as a "trickster and double-dealer," and said he had grown to "feel a hearty contempt for him and to mistrust his sincerity and loyalty to the people's cause." This was the same Roosevelt who was backing Deneen for Governor before the Chicago convention, but when Deneen decided to remain a Republican, he became a crook in the eyes of the Colonel. That was because the Governor was not so "disloyal to the people's cause" as it was that he refused to be harnessed by the Bull Moose and hitched to another party.

PANIC IGNORAMUSES

Certain Republican politicians have attempted to create upon the minds of some people that panics and Democracy are one and the same. They glibly recall the Cleveland panic, but fail to mention the Roosevelt panic, and the panics which have recurred about every ten years during Republican administrations, going as far back as the dreadful "Black Friday" of President Grant's administration. The panic howlers are ignorant of economics as well as of history, or they would not seriously entertain the idea that mere politics are responsible for panic periods either in this country or Europe.

President Taft seems to be the most illustrious example of the Republicans who does not know history or who shuts his eyes to the record. He also has attempted to show that panics and Democracy are twin brothers, and has unwittingly harked back to the so-called Cleveland panic of 1893. He has kept that up till he has been pitilessly exposed by Governor Woodrow Wilson, who is student, economist, historian and teacher.

President Taft must feel taken down a button hole by Governor Wilson's exposure of his ignorance of panic history. President Taft on Tuesday rung the panic alarm on an unsuspecting public by giving out a widely published statement repeating the old Republican slander about the panic which Cleveland's administration inherited from the Republican administration of President Harrison. In a speech in New Jersey on Tuesday, Governor Wilson broke it off in William Howard Taft when he declared that it was wrong to attribute that panic to tariff legislation by Democrats, for the truth of history is that the 1903 panic started before the Democratic tariff bill under Cleveland was enacted. Governor Wilson attributed that panic to Republican currency legislation and proved it from United States history. The Governor gave Taft this lesson in history:

"I find I am invited to return to my old occupation. I used to be a teacher of history and I find it necessary to teach it some more. I find myself abashed in facing the necessity of teaching it to the President of the United States.

"And when the President of the United States makes himself responsible for the statement that the panic of 1893 was due to a tariff bill that came a year afterwards and came because of Mr. Cleveland's administration, I can only express my deep regret that the President of the United States has not read the history of the United States.

"Any statement that Mr. Taft makes I believe to be made in honesty but this statement, if he has made it, he has made in ignorance; because the panic of 1893 can be shown to have arisen out of currency legislation of a government absolutely controlled by the Republican party. The panic of 1893 was on its way before Mr. Cleveland became President and it matured merely in the first part of his administration and would have been stopped if the Senate of the United States had yielded more promptly to the advice of the administration.

"It is unworthy of men in public life to mislead the public thought after such a fashion but I don't doubt the verdict on the fifth of November. I don't limit my view by the Democratic party. I look through the Democratic party to the destinies of the United States and if the Democratic party does not serve you after you have tried it, reject it and I will join you in rejecting it."

That is the clever exposure of a man who has the knowledge. He simply points to the history text books which President Taft and lesser lights should read. Everybody who wants to know will learn that the panic of 1893 came about through the Sherman silver certificate act proposed by a great Republican, passed during a Republican administration, and had its demoralizing effect in financial circles during Harrison's administration. It culminated in a panic which came as the result of it, and it was through Cleveland that the Sherman act was repealed and confidence restored.

Governor Wilson's final proposition to throw aside his party allegiance for the good of his country is more than a narrow-minded Republican would do. He declared that the tariff programme of the Republican and Progressive parties "are programmes of postponement." It is well enough to repeat here the further remarks of Governor Wilson on the tariff and panics:

"In the first place, I have not heard a single thoughtful Democrat declare for free trade. I have heard every Democrat declaring for a policy of going through all the schedules of the tariff and finding all the illegitimate concealed privileges and cutting every one of them out, leaving absolutely safe every sound and healthful fiber of American business."

The Governor said the Democratic party programme was one by which America would "be liberated—not embarrassed." "If crisis comes," he added, "if panic comes on top of that they can come only through those who to our infinite peril, control the credit of America. It is not a prediction of panic which they make. It is a threat. I want you to mark it and watch it as a threat of men who, if they dare, can show they hold the credit of America in their hands."

That ought to be plain to all reasonable men. It is not parties, but money holders, that create panics and depression by withdrawing loans and creating industrial suspension and commercial distress.

THE FREE TRADE SCARECROW.

Having lost out on argument, the Republicans have hoisted the scarecrow of "free trade" in their efforts to mislead the people into believing that the Democratic party is a free trade party. There is not a particle of danger that the Democratic party ever will be for free trade. It never was a free trade party and never will be, for the reason that it always has been and always will stand for a tariff for revenue. That is absolutely necessary, for the revenue to administer the government has to be raised by a tax on imports. Republicans who circulate free trade rumors do it with malice, and Democrats who talk about the free list do so from ignorance of the fact that the free list means free trade in particular instances.

Unfortunately for all parties, they contain officeseekers who are demagogues enough to play upon the credulity and prejudice of a certain class of voters. The Republican politicians frighten one class of voters by warning them of free trade, while some ill-informed Democrats help them out by laying great stress upon putting import commodities upon the free list. Between malicious Republican free trade yellers and impolitic Democratic free list incompetents, Governor Woodrow Wilson is kept busy denying free trade and free list talk so far as the Democratic party is concerned. It is bad enough for designing Republicans to set up the free list bogey, but it is worse for unthinking Democrats to have embarrassed the Democratic nominee by creating among a certain class of people the impression that free lumber, or free iron ore or free this or free that is the criterion of Democracy. As a matter of fact, it isn't, for free trade as it is represented in the free list can be as much in favor of trusts as it is in behalf of the people.

In the closing days of the campaign Governor Wilson finds himself compelled to assert and reassert that the Democratic party has no leaning towards free trade. Such industriously circulated rumors are hurting the Democratic party, and Republicans who persist in circulating such nonsense are doing it for that purpose. Even so reputable a metropolitan paper as the New York Tribune persists in the petty politics of emphasizing the absurd alarm about Democratic free trade, although the editor of that great Republican paper knows as well as Wilson does that the Democratic party is not a free trade party and counld never be so long as it is necessary to raise a bilion dollars to defray the expenses of the government.

Notwithstanding Governor Wilson's ferquent denials, the Tribune as persistently, industriously and maliciously circulates the free trade scare, and when in his speech in Philadelphia on last Monday the next President set the Democratic party right on its tariff programme, that paper was so "little" as to say that "Wilson takes a more sober tariff view." That would lead one to infer that he had held a previous radical view, whereas he has been preaching that entirely sober view before and since his nomination. The plain truth is, it was through his influence that the Baltimore platform declared for such a sane and gradual revision of the tariff as not to affect a single cotton mill or other industry in the entire United States.

Again, on Tuesday, Governor Wilson, speaking at three places in his own State of New Jersey, made satirical attacks on the free trade alarmists who are opposing him. Once again he told the people that he is "not a believer in free trade and that the Democratic party did not intend to disturb the legitimate business or prosperity of the country if put into power." That is as plain as English can make it, but he made it plainer by adding that "no thoughtful Democrat has advocated free trade."

That ought to be sufficient to put a quietus on malicious Republican free trade talk and irresponsible Democratic free list demagogy. An immense amount of harm has been done in North Carolina by that kind of talk, and we find it necessary to write this article a few days before the election because of the fact that the seed sown in this State has seriously misled many voters. It is too late now for free list talkers in our own party to take heed, but in the interest of the election of Governor Wilson and the triumph of Democracy, we again repeat the Presidential nominee's declaration that "the Democratic party does not advocate free trade." It earnestly proposes to cut down the tariff graft of the trusts and reduce the tariff in the interest of all the people.

WATTERSON ON WILSON

Editor Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, previous to the Baltimore convention was bitterly opposed to the nomination of Woodrow Wilson. However, his reason for it only illustrated the great character of Wilson, and the distinguished Kentucky editor has acknowledged the fact. He is now an ardent supporter of Wilson and is doing yeoman work for the cause of Democracy. He has been specially struck with this comment of the Democratic nominee on the tariff and trusts:

"The leaders of neither of the other parties, propose to attack the problem of a free government at its heart. Neither proposes to make a fundamental change in the policy of the government with regard to tariff duties. It is with both of them in respect of the tariff merely a question of more or less, merely a question of lopping off a little here and amending a little there; while with the Democrats it is a question of principle. Their object is to cut every special favor out, and cut it out just as fast as it can be cut out without upsetting the business processes of the country. Neither does either of the other parties propose seriously to disturb the supremacy of the trusts. Their only remedy is to accept the trusts and regulate them, notwithstanding the fact that most of the trusts are so constructed as to insure high prices, because they are not based upon efficiency, but upon monopoly. Their success lies in control. The competition of more efficient competitors, not loaded down by the debts created when the combinations were made, would embarrass and conquer them. The trusts want the protection of the government, and are likely to get it if either the Republican or the so-called 'Progressive' party prevails."

Governor Wilson displays his great apitude for keen analysis and clear definition in the above, and here is how it strikes Editor Watterson:

"In all his speeches and addresses the Democratic nominee—growing stronger as he has proceeded—lays down these unanswerable truths, planting himself squarely upon the ever-living impolitic that the government must be the servant, not the master, of the people. It must second, not subvert, the popular energies and impulse. It may, as he points out, assist in a hundred ways to safeguard the lives and the health and promote the comfort and the happiness of the people; but it can do these things only if its actions be disinterested only. If they respond to public opinion, only if those who lead government see the country as a whole, feel a thrill of sympathy with every class and every interest in it, know how to hold an even hand and listen to men of every sort and quality and origin, in taking counsel what is to be done. We feel entirely sure that the Democratic presidential ticket will be elected by an overwhelming majority. But that is not enough. It ought to carry every State in the Union. Kentucky leading the van, killing forever Standpatism and Third Termism, and putting Special Interests, High Finance and Predatory Wealth completely and finally out of business!"

The Courier-Journal's great editor is broad, and the reader of what he says must recognize his greatness in the position he now occupies towards Wilson.

Speaking about the issues of the campaign in the Nation and the State, ambition, misrepresentation and malice have occupied the attention of some of the candidates to the exclusion of the great public questions.

CURRENT COMMENT.

When the State police raided the "dry" town of Ridgefield, Conn., they found 40 kegs and 1,000 bottles of beer, 16 gallons of whiskey, 14 barrels of wine and enough vermouth and hard cider to intoxicate the entire community. Sounds like an old-time raid on the steenth ward in Wilmington.—Charlotte Observer.

Mr. Iredell Meares is doing right to stick to his candidacy for Governor. He is contending for a principle, and to desert it to give another candidate more votes would not be in any way creditable to him. Those who know him and are in closest touch with him believe he will fight it out to the end. He is not a quitter.—Greensboro News (Ind.)

President Taft is placing his reliance on throwing the country into fits with wild eyed statements as to how the Democratic programme of tariff for revenue only will send business to the demnition bow wows, and that he is the only doctor to cure the fits. But Old Dr. Taft is regarded as a quack and gets no attention from the people. —Raleigh News and Observer.

Col. Roosevelt has brought suit for libel against a poor country editor in Ishpeming, Mich., claiming $5,000 damages for the editor accusing T. R. of being intemperate in language and in liquor. Of course the poor editor was injudicious in charging the colonel with liquor intemperance, of which he is not guilty. But why is it that Mr. Roosevelt can refer to President Taft as a "receiver of stolen goods" as well as to other notable men as "crooks," "thieves," etc., and not be even more at fault than the poor Ishpeming editor?—Chester (Pa.) Republican.

Here's how one long-suffering newspaper editor complies with the recently enforced publicity law regarding newspaper advertising: "The editor wishes to extend his thanks (adv.) to his old-time friend, Bill Jones (adv.) for a half bushel of sweet potatoes (adv.). These potatoes are of the famous pumpkin variety (adv.), for which Bill is noted for miles around (adv.). While Bill claims all the credit (adv.) for raising these famous (adv.) potatoes, yet we have a feeling that Mrs. Jones' (adv.) watchful care had much to do with the large crop (adv.)".—Augusta Chronicle.

The Journal wishes to pay its tribute of respect to Hon. Iredell Meares, Progressive candidate for Governor of North Carolina. Mr. Meares has not one chance in a million, of course, of being elected, and he knows this fully. In fact, we believe he will run rather a bad third in the race. But he declares he represents a cause, and that he will not get out of the race, whether he receives one vote or one hundred thousand. Looked at from his point of view his principles would be compromised were he to retire in favor of Thomas Settle. He fails to find any basis upon which the old-line Republicans and the Progressives can get together, without the sacrifice of principle, and being a man of the highest honor, he refuses to do this.—Winston-Salem Journal (Dem.)

CARD FROM MR. RICAUD.

Editor Star:

Kindly answer this question for me, if you can: How long will an all too patient community submit to the condition now existing at the union station of refusing admission to the trains to meet incoming lady relatives, burdened with parcels and fatigued with the discomforts of travel? This regulation should not be tolerated by the patrons of the roads until they have provided porters to supply the courtesy which male members of families are only too glad to extend to wives, sisters, mothers and daughters returning home.

Who is responsible for this barbaric disregard of common courtesy and decency of treatment to females?

Very truly,

A. G. RICAUD.

BOLL WEEVIL DAMAGE.

Pest Has Caused Loss in South of $125,000,000.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The cotton boll weevil, the greatest pest of the South, has caused a loss of $125,000,000 represented by 2,550,000 bales of cotton since the weevil first invaded this country, according to an estimate of the Department of Agriculture issued today. The weevil crossed the Rio Grande into the United States 20 years ago.

"The problem of the control of the boll weevil will be more difficult as the pest continues its invasion of the cotton belt," announced the department. "It cannot be considered as yet completely solved. There is no occasion to lose hope, but there must be devised better means of controlling the pest and reducing the enormous loss suffered, especially during unfavorable seasons in Texas."

DISCUSS HARNETT STREET

City Council Heard Both Sides of Proposition to Require Removal of Warehouse at Foot of the Thoroughfare.

Practically all of a two-hour session of the City Council yesterday morning was consumed in hearing both sides of the proposition of the Seaboard Air Line Railway that the Wilmington Compress & Warehouse Co., be required to remove immediately a warehouse which it has erected at the foot of Harnett street. The request of the railroad company was filed with the Council some weeks ago. While no action was taken it seems to be the purpose of Council to order that the street be cleared, but give the company several months in which to vacate. Meanwhile the General Assembly will convene and it is hoped to have enacted a law giving the officials the authority to lease the public docks. This would mean that the warehouse company could continue to use the property by paying the amount of rental that would be charged.

The Seaboaord Air Line was represented by Hon. John D. Bellamy, local counsel for the road. After giving a full history of the purchase of land thereabouts by the predecessor of the Seaboard he said that the Wilmington Compress & Warehouse Co., was warned in 1897 by his company to clear the street of the warehouse. He said that he was surprised about a year ago to find practically a new warehouse had been built on the street at a cost of $10,000 or $15,000. Mr. Bellamy said that the principal reason the Seaboard desires the warehouse removed is that the insurance on its chain of storage buildings is increased from 10 to 20 per cent. by its presence. In conclusion he urged Council to take definite action on the proposition, decide whether or not it would require the removal of the warehouse.

Councilman Tiencken renewed his former suggestion that action be deferred until the next Legislature meets when a bill could be passed authorizing the renting of the public docks. Councilman B. C. Moore concurred with Councilman Tiencken.

At this juncture Mr. W. H. Sprunt, president of the Wilmington Compress & Warehouse Company, submitted his company's side of the matter in the following statement:

"As president of the Wilmington Compress Company I would respectfully submit the following statement regarding the Harnett street property:

"The small plot of ground at the foot of Harnett street has never been opened by the city as a street nor has it ever been used as a thoroughfare. When the Wilmington Compress & Warehouse Company planked it over, about 1879, to receive cotton from the Carolina Central Railroad it was nothing but a mud hole which was useless to anyone. The compress company hauled sand and ballast in and filled it up, building a bulkhead next to the river. To protect the cotton from fire the present warehouse was built by John Ottaway, January, 1882, permission having been obtained from the Board of Aldermen and a regular building permit issued to him.

"At the outset I would state that the Sprunts, as our firm has been termed, are in no way responsible for the building of this shed on Harnett street.

"Many years ago, to foster and encourage business the Wilmington Compress Company granted the Seaboard Air Line the privilege of using about 10 to 15 feet of the southeast corner of the compress property in order that the Seaboard Air Line could reach their property to the south of the compress and the Seaboard Air Line has used and is still using this piece of property exclusively without compensation—none has ever been asked. Without the use of this corner of compress property it would be very difficult if not impossible for the Seaboard Air Line to reach some of their terminals.

"Several years ago, to further oblige the Seaboard Air Line the corner of this shed or warehouse on Harnett street was cut off in order to allow the Seaboard Air Line to put in additional tracks down Harnett street. The street has never been opened and our compress company has held possession for a great many years, which was entirely for the mutual use of the Seaboard Air Line and the compress company, there being absolutely no other traffic on that street.

"The recent request of the Seaboard Air Line for the removal of the shed was no doubt made under a misapprehension, as every one must readily realize that if the shed must be removed that the railroad tracks must be also removed, and that the street should be opened from the river up to Second street, as it is perhaps far more needed between Front street and Second than it is from Front to the river.

"The shed on Harnett street was erected for the fire protection of the property, and has more than once saved the adjoining property from destruction. Being ironclad it is far safer than an open platform. In fact, it was covered at the request of our city officials for the fire protection. But for this covered shed the destruction by fire a year or two ago when the Seaboard Air Line's fertilizer warehouse was burnt would have been very much greater.

"Over the Seaboard Air Line's cotton platform which is on Harnett street and through this shed has been the only way that the Seaboard Air Line has been able to deliver for us and others upwards of a hundred thousand bales of cotton each year. The shed is used exclusively during the cotton season for the Seaboard Air Line cotton, and at other times of the year for any purpose that is going to be for the good of our community.

"When the firm of Alex. Sprunt & Son secured control of the compress property a few years ago—they still do not own all of the stock, many of our Wilmington citizens being interested—they immediately made large and extensive terminal improvements for our port, erecting a large brick warehouse as well as a large frame shed on the river, which we believe is the only strictly commercial warehouse in Wilmington, a part of these warehouses are depositories for and distributing point for farming implements as well as for the storage of other commodities, and we think it is the only place with the exception of the railroad companies' warehouses, which was erected for securing the hauling of goods to competitive points. Owing to the low rates charged by the railroad companies to get the hauling of fertilizers the compress company finds the investment thus far unprofitable. They, too, are constantly striving for new business for the good of our community, and incidentally for the good of the compress company.

"This compress plant could easily have been located out of the city limits as other Wilmington industries have done and saved the large amount of city taxes we pay each year, depriving the city of this revenue. On the contrary, the firm of Alex. Sprunt & Son has striven by hard work and close application for the upbuilding of Wilmington. Last cotton season their business left in Wilmington no less than $1,000,000 cash in freight and labor. The payrolls for six months of the year support about one-sixth of the population of Wilmington. A few years ago our firm was urged to establish a branch business in Charleston, S. C., a most influential committee of prominent Charlestonians having proposed diverting about one-half of the business to Charleston where the rates are cheaper from South Carolina points, but Alex. Sprunt & Son in their earnest endeavor to build up their home port refused this very flattering offer and concentrated all their efforts upon Wilmington. Our competitors in Norfolk, however, accepted Charleston's proposal afterwards made to them and have been doing what we were urged to do, diverting their South Carolina cotton to Charleston.

"The firm of Alex. Sprunt & Son has also been urged to remove their business to Southport, which has some advantages over Wilmington, and it is possible that this may yet be done.

"If we were newcomers no doubt extraordinary inducements would be offered by Wilmington to get a business of such magnitude as we have built up here in Wilmington. Why then should not old friends be encouraged and preserved?

"It is a well known fact that in all other ports every advantage is given for the reception of commerce and every bale of cotton is most heartily welcomed, and in nearly all of our Southern cotton towns many of the streets are blocked with cotton.

"Surely this Honorable Council realizes and appreciates the importance of fostering and encouraging our home enterprises. We do not ask for anything more than is given to others, and we heartily approve of every dock in the city of Wilmington being used for the good of the commerce and the upbuilding of the town. Of course, there are some restrictions necessary, but Harnett street should not be interfered with without the same rule applying to a number of other streets that have never been opened, and which we do not ask to be opened, as we have every desire to help our neighbors and friends to develop their business, particularly where the use of docks and streets do not interfere with any one else.

"Ours is a Wilmington enterprise by Wilmington men who have brought into Wilmington millons of trade and commerce and who have never taken anything out of Wilmington, nor has it asked or received any special privilege or advantage over others either from the city or from the railroads. It has been for nearly 50 years a help to Wilmington. It has never been a hindrance nor a burden to Wilmington. On the contrary contributing in every way possible for its advancement, paying approximately $15,000 taxes annually.

"That no exceptions should be made to the regulations or ordinances of the city with respect to the use of the streets is obviously unfair. Whatever tends to promote the welfare of our people in the increased development of business should be fostered and encouraged, not strangled, provided, of course, that the principle is maintained that in the use of such convenience no injury is done to another."

Supplementing his written statement, Mr. Sprunt said that he did not desire to antagonize Council or to put them in an embarrassing position. Mr. Sprunt mentioned the fact that his firm and the Seaboard Air Line had saved the city a bond issue of $200,000 by improvements of terminal facilities, upon which the government work on the river was based. He said that at the suggestion of Mr. Bellamy he went to Portsmouth and saw Mr. Capps, with whom he took up the matter. Mr. Capps, he said, told him that the railroad had no desire to be antagonistic; that if the railroad could not get the foot of the street for its own use, as it had been advised by Mr. Bellamy that it could not do, then it did not want to deprive the compress of its use. Mr. Sprunt said that Mr. Capps said he would advise Mr. Bellamy not to proceed further in the matter until notified by the company. He said that when his company first began to use the dock it was leased from the city for $100 a year; that the docks then were really nothing but mud holes and the city was glad for some one to take them over in order to keep them in condition. Mr. Sprunt made it plain that his company did not want to be vindictive, but that if Harnett street is to be cleared then in all fairness Bladen street, which is occupied with a warehouse of the Seaboard Air Line, built in the past year or so, and all other streets should be open to the river. He said that his interests spend hundreds of thousands of dollars every year in Wilmington and that more than 5,000 persons are supported in this city by the cotton industry.

Mr. Sprunt said that his company was not asking any favors of the city that are not given to other enterprises, but respectfully submitted that it was not right for his company to be deprived of the use of a dock when the same privilege is given other companies in different parts of the city. He also pointed out that the warehouse in question is used as much by the Seaboard Air Line as by his company.

Councilman Perdew inquired of Mr. Bellamy why he did not seek to have Grace street dock, which is occupied by the Clyde Line, opened up. He replied that he was interested only in Harnett street. Councilman Perdew was very emphatic in his declarations that the Council should aid in building up Wilmington by helping its enterprises as far as it could and at one point in the discussion told Mr. Bellamy that the city employs attorneys to advise it on legal matters and that no advice as to the law was desired from him.

Councilman B. C. Moore said that he regarded all streets in the city as being open and that he did not intend to have Harnett street cleared unless the other streets also are cleared. He said that the Seaboard Air Line wanted the compress removed simply in order to get the use of the street itself.

Mr. Walter Smallbones, of the Wilmington Compress & Warehouse Co., had given the free use of the wharf at the foot of Harnett street and had allowed the use of the warehouse for storage without any charge.

City Attorney Herbert McClammy for the steenth time advised the Council that it did not have the right to allow the use of the streets, or wharves by private parties or corporations.

After further discussion of the question, to which no new points were brought out, Councilman P. Q. Moore stated that as the city attorney had stated that it was unlawful to allow the use of the streets, or wharves by any individual or corporation in the manner described, he would have to vote to uphold the law, but suggested that as it has been six months since persons in different sections of the city had been notified to remove obstructions on the sidewalks with no resulting effect, the warehouse company could hardly be given less consideration. The Legislature will meet in the meantime and a bill could be passed allowing the city the right to rent or lease the wharves and docks if such a course is deemed advisable. Mayor Smith concurred with Councilman Moore and while no action was taken the discussion terminated and it is likely that the suggestion of Councilman Moore will be adopted.

Messrs. D. J. Fergus, W. H. Yopp, and J. B. Fales were present to call attention to the fearful condition of Water street, from Dock to Orange, and beyond, which they said should receive immediate attention of the street department. It is likely that the thoroughfare will be improved in the near future.

Persons living on Eleventh street, between Dawson and Wright, submitted a petition asking that the street be opened. The petition was referred to Councilman P. Q. Moore for investigation and report.

Council discussed the matter of extending the sewerage system and this question will likely receive further consideration at a meeting this morning called to continue the reading of some new ordinances.

BRIGADE BASKETBALL.

Several Interesting Contests at the Armory Last Night.

The basketball games at the Boys' Brigade last night were a great improvement over those played before this season in the Wednesday Night League as the players are rounding into form and all are playing the game better in every department—passing, goal shooting, team work, and they are all conforming to the rules more fully so that the games are faster, cleaner and better in every way and are very much more interesting. There were a large number of men present to witness the games and they were kept in a constant state of cheering.

The team of Cameron defeated that of Fowler very handily, the score being 32 to 7. The star of this game was M. Register, a member of Company C, who threw six goals in the first half. Cameron also starred, throwing six goals. The guarding of Smith was very good. In the second game Gerdes defeated Walton by a score of 29 to 12. The goal throwing of Palmgren, another member of Company C, who was drafted into this game, was a feature, he securing eight goals and scoring 16 of the points for his team. Geo. Fowler, for Walton, shot four pretty goals from various parts of the room, all under difficulties. The guard work of Page and K. Davis, for Gerdes, was of the gilt-edge variety, they only allowing four goals in the entire game.

The interest in these games is growing fast and it is expected that soon the attendance will be as great as that for the Friday Night League.

The games in Company C League resulted in victory for Register over Palmgren by the close score of 11 to 10, while Fergus had a walk-over with Montgomery by the score of 21 to 7. This game was not so bad as one would judge from the score, as Montgomery played with two players short.

The next games in the Friday Night League will be played tomorrow night when Company B will meet the Cardinals; Company A will play the Eagles, and the Y. M. C. A. Juniors will play the Y. M. C. A. Seniors. The attendance at these games has become so great that the management has decided to erect the seats for these games so that everybody may see the whole game comfortably. There will be no charge for admittance and ladies as well as men are cordially invited to be present and witness this good sport. The first game will begin at 8:15.

CAUGHT AFTER LONG CHASE

Julius Murray, Colored, Arrested In Swamps Near Navassa

Julius Murray, colored (not the barber), is in the city prison to answer a charge in the Recorder's court this morning of stealing a suit of clothes belonging to Henry Tan, colored. The clothes were stolen yesterday from the home of Quince Sessoms, No. 704 McRae street, where both Murray and Tan have been rooming for some time. The theft occurred about 8 o'clock when there was no one at the house but Murray and it is said that he had to force an entrance as the place was locked up.

As soon as the theft was discovered Sessoms went in search of Murray and found him, but Murray managed to get away. The matter was then reported to the police. Hall Officers J. S. Lane and H. G. Bullard were detailed on the case and they spent the morning trailing the negro and at one time was in a short distance of him. The negro took to the swamps between here and Navassa. The officers returned to the city and Mr. Bullard took one of the afternoon trains for Navassa. He saw the negro standing on the edge of a swamp about half a mile this side of Navassa. Officer Bullard was then in citizens' clothes and was not recognized by the negro. He telephoned to police headquarters for assistance and two more plainclothesmen were sent to him. They had no trouble with the negro and he was brought on to police headquarters. He admitted to the officers that he stole the clothes which he had on from Tan.

WEST IS TALKING PANAMA

Inspector W. E. Smyre Comes Back And Praises the South.

Inspector W. E. Smyre, of the United States Immigration Service, a native North Carolinian, who has been spending a number of years in the West, was a Wilmington visitor yesterday and he talked enthusiastically of this section and the wonderful growth in the South.

Mr. Smyre caught practical boosting ideas from the live cities in the Northwest. In a recent interview in a Norfolk paper he told of the Western way of building cities by commercial co-operation and emphasized the need of concerted efforts in the South.

For the past five years Mr. Smyre has been stationed at Victoria, B. C., the city that increased her population from 1,000 to over a 100,000 in 25 years. Inspector Smyre stated that whirlwind progress has somewhat subsided for the present in the West awaiting the opening of the Panama canal. He says every Western port is enthusiastic over the opening of the canal and the prospects for the Pacific coast trade. He declared the situation is tense and that the canal is the whole talk.

Inspector Smyre said he was generally surprized to find little interest about the Panama canal among South Atlantic cities and he took occasion to say that he believed that the South Atlantic seaboard would be benefitted more than any one section. Since his return from the West he has noted wonderful improvements throughout the South. He commented on Wilmington with interest and especially spoke of her substantial building progress. He is interested in immigration and thinks it the best way for the South to solve her labor troubles. In this connection he was told of the successful colonies of the Carolina Trucking Development Co., and waxed warm in his praise for this splendid work. Inspector Smyre while out West was stationed at various places from El Paso, Texas, to Victoria, B. C. He was sent to Wilmington from Norfolk to investigate a stowaway case at this port.

STOWAWAY ON STEAMER

German Seaman Who Deserted, Found On British Steamer Mariner

Inspector W. E. Smyre, of the Norfolk office of the United States Immigration Bureau, arrived here yesterday to take charge of a stowaway case called to his attention by the officials of the local custom house.

The stowaway in questiton is an able-bodied German seaman by the name of John George Kistowski and is 24 years of age. It seems that he deserted from a German steamer in the Spanish port of Huelva and was found on the British steamer Mariner, when about 12 hours out from the same port. His object in deserting was to get to this country and sign on with a British ship in order to get more pay and better rations. The Mariner had a full complement and there was no room there for him, and Capt. Morrison reported the matter to the custom house authorities immediately on his arrival here and they at once took it up with the Norfolk office of the Immigration Bureau.

In case the stowaway doesn't want to reship as a seaman with some of the British steamers now in port, he will likely be admitted as an immigrant, as there is nothing in his case to bar such procedure. Inspector Smyre is now endeavoring to find him a berth and let him carry out his original intention of shipping on a British vessel. The case of admitting him to the United States as an immigrant will be held up until the results of the inspector's efforts to find a place on a vessel for him are known.

Case Was Dismissed.

Mr. H. E. Robbins, a well known insurance man, was tried in Justice King's court yesterday, and acquitted of a charge of giving a worthless check for $1 to Mr. John Pistoles, manager of the New York Cafe. The check was dated August 12th, and the pass book of Mr. Robbins showed that up to the 17th of August he had a balance at the bank of $1.99. The check was presented for payment on August 15th. Mr. Robbins on Tuesday paid Mr. Pistoles the amount of the check. At the trial yesterday the defendant was represented by J. M. Scull, Esq.

Benjamin Franklin said—"A penny saved is two-pence earned,"—and yet some people continue to pay 25 to 45 cents for others, when 20 cents per pound will buy

Big Day at the Grand.

Strong in dramatic interest and combining a most interesting and beautiful picture of "Scenes of Irish Life in Dublin", the latter a Vitagraph, the bill at the Grand Tehatre will appeal to all and it will be one of the very best of the week. It should also be remembered that all the pictures at the Grand are put on with full orchestra accompaniment and that the realistic effects for each picture are in the hands of an artist in this line.

While the pictures at the Grand will be strong today, Mr. Leonard Chick will have a most interesting song in "Spoony Moon", a real Southern serenade sung with great success wherever it is heard. Mr. Chick will be heard at his best in this song and his friends should not fail to hear him this evening. In addition to the picture of the scenes of Irish life there will be a Vitagraph of "An Expensive Shine" in which is told the story of the loss and ultimate recovery of a very fine necklace. "The Power of a Hymn" is a strong Kalem in which is related how the great influence of a good song welded the lives of two boys. It has a strong moral lesson in it and will be seen not only with interest but with profit, especially by the young people.

At the Bijou.

Four big films, each the very latest, the very best and the most expensive, will be presented by the popular Bijou today, and amusement-lovers doting on the very best, can't afford to go shy on this great bunch of good things, which, of course, will be interspersed with the merriest of music. In addition to this big entertainment why be it remembered that the Bijou is the joy spot for solid comfort and that its price of admission never advances. It is always 5 cents, afternoon or night, and the show is never cut in the afternoon. That is why it is such a mecca for ladies and children.

"The Tin Can Rattle" is the chief fun picture today, and it tells of a hard-luck career of a country newspaper man, but how he solves the problem and triumphs when a happy idea hits him and a stranded actress hits his town.

"The Cringer" is a big dramatic, and it is a thriller. It tells what a young Westerner does and shows in vivid manner how he does it when taunted by cowboys for being a coward. He does with "his boots on" and dies happy because he shows them he is not afraid.

"The Tomboy of Bar Z" is another gripping dramatic, that possesses a rich comedy vein. It tells of the tricks of a tomboy at a ranch, who, in turn, is tricked into an elopement by a slick chap from the East. She is saved just in time from marrying the would-be bigamist, and the act leading up to this is one fraught with thrills.

The fourth member of the big series today is a swell eduactional firm. "The Turtle Industry in Florida." It is not only instructive, but highly entertaining.

Mr. Harriss announced that the feature in this county would be an address by Hon. H. L. Godwin, candidate for Congress in this district to succeed himself, who will speak in the Court House Saturday night. Mr. Godwin has a number of appointments in Brunswick county tomorrow.

Mr. Will Hodges Injured.

Mr. Will Hodges, of Hodges Bros., was painfully injured late Tuesday night when his foot was struck by a set screw on a drive shaft of a gasoline launch on which he was returning to the city from a trip up the river. His foot was badly lacerated and a piece of the bone was torn out. He was able to be out yesterday, but of course, could not use the injured foot.

"Spoony Moon."

The thousands who suffer the miseries of colds and catarrh and claim they have never found a cure can get instant relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Freight Piled Up on Track at or Near Council's Station.

The incoming Charlotte tarin on the Seaboard Air Line, due here at 12:10 o'clock this morning, was indefinitely delayed and the Wilmington westbonud train to Charlotte, which left here at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, had not reached Lumberton at 1:30 o'clock this morning, on account of a freight wreck at or near Council's, about midway between Wilmington and Lumberton. The extent of the wreck could not be learned, as the trains are dispatched from Hamlet, and the Wilmington office was not advised of any trouble. It was stated, however, from Lumberton, that a freight was piled up on the track near Council's Station, and that a wrecking train had just been sent through there from Hamlet, about 1 o'clock this morning. It is thought that no one was seriously hurt in the smash.

WHAT S.S.S. STANDS FOR

The familiar letters, S. S. S., stand for Swift's Sure Specific, a name honestly and fairly earned by a great blood remedy. The majority of physical afflictions are caused by bad blood, because a weak, polluted circulation deprives the system of its necessary strength and disease-resisting powers. S. S. S. cures every disorder which comes from weak or diseased blood, it tones up and regulates every portion of the system, and creates an abundant supply of nourishing properties which fill the circulation and bring health to the body. S. S. S. is made entirely of healing, cleansing roots, herbs and barks, which are also possessed of great tonic properties. It does not contain a particle of mineral or other harmful drug, and is therefore the purest and safest blood medicine for young or old. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Malaria and all other troubles of a deranged circulation. Write for free book on the blood and any medical advice. COTTON CONTINUES ADVANCE BEARS' DAY IN WHEAT MARKET WAR SHADOW AFFECTS STOCKS

Bullish Estimate of Supplies and Requirements by English Authority Caused Upward Movement—Close 21 Points

New York, Oct. 30.—A bullish estimate of supplies and requirements for the present season by an English trade authority, and continued reports of a firm Southern spot situation, caused another sharp advance in the cotton market today, and all active months sold well above the 11-cent level. The close was steady, with last prices showing a net gain of from 16 to 21 points. The offerings, however, were well absorbed by a renewed demand from some of the leading trade brokers, and as soon as a report was circulated that well known London cotton trade statisticians estimated the season's consumption at from 14,500,000 to 14,750,000 and placed the probable American crop at only 13,970,000 bales, the market became much firmer. Realizing was heavy on the advance, and caused slight reactions from time to time, but there seemed to be an increasing volume of outside buying, while early sellers were evidently nervous enough to cover, and the market reached a net gain of from 24 to 26 points in the late trading, with January cotton selling at 11.18. Numerous reports of an active spot demand at advancing prices in the South contributed to the advance here, and while there was some selling for a reaction, as well as realizing in the late trade, closing prices were within 6 or 7 points of the best on active positions.

Spot cotton closed steady. Middling uplands, 1[illegible] gulf, 11.80; sales, none.

Futures closed very steady.

More Courage Developed on Selling Side and Market Finished Lower, Though Steady—Corn and Oats Were Lower

Chicago, Oct. 30.—More courage developed today on the selling side of the wheat market than had been witnessed in some time. An understanding between Russia and Austria relative to the Turkish war gave the bears an advantage that was increased by a big gain in the world's available supply. Accordingly, the market, though steady at the close, finished ½@¾ to 1@1¼c. under last night. Latest trading left corn ¼ to 4c. down, oats off a shade to ¼, and provisions varying from 25c. down to a like advance.

All Foreign Markets Were Unsettled After Early Period of Optimism —Short Selling In Local Market

New York, Oct. 30.—The shadow of war hung over the financial horizon again today. All foreign markets were unsettled after an early period of moderate optimism, due to reports that two of the leading European powers had arrived at an amicable understanding regarding the conflict in the Balkans. London's early tone was one of cheerfulness on buying orders from the continent and absence of further liquidation in Canadian Pacific. That stock rose over four points abroad, and almost the entire American group closed strong.

As a result of this apparent improvement, our market opened with a general and substantial rise, Canadian Pacific gaining over three points. News from Europe assumed an alarming tone, and there were signs that the foreign markets were once more under a severe strain. Short selling, especially in Steel, and presumably based upon yesterday's financial statement, was a factor of the declining movement, which was checked in the final hour. More or less complete recoveries were then recorded, regardless of a rise of six per cent. in call loans, the rally continuing to be firm, but dull at the close, with numerous net gains.

Bonds were lower, especially convertible issues.

Total sales, par value, aggregated $1,600,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales today, 651,300 shares.

MARINES TO SAN DOMINGO

Two Warships Ordered There On Account of Rioting

Washington, Oct. 30.—Increasing disorder in San Domingo and desperate street fighting in the outskirts of Puerto Plata, jeopardizing American lives and property, caused the Navy Department today to order the immediate dispatch of two warships, the cruiser Baltimore and the tender Yankton to Dominican waters.

The Yankton and Baltimore should arrive in Dominican waters by the middle of next week, reinforcing the Prairie with her 700 marines. The Baltimore will carry an additional force of 150 marines. The three vessels should be sufficient to prevent anarchy in the ports of Dominica.

The Baltimore and the Yankton were being prepared to act as transports for troops to Cuba in case of need, but that purpose has been abandoned temporarily.

ilar course be followed with all other flags in Utica.

Not since early this morning, when his attending physician made the final announcement of his inability to do more for relief than had been done, was there the least probability of saving the patient's life, or even of prolonging it for any considerable time. It had been the doctor's hope up to that time that he might so stimulate the kidneys as to resume their functions, but when he was compelled to acknowledge failure in this respect, he surrendered, frankly acknowledging that the fight was lost. Since then he devoted his efforts to keeping his patient quiet and preventing suffering. His constant fear was that the uremic poison in his patient's system would cause convulsions which would result in instant death.

Dr. Peck was with his patient during the greater part of the day, but did little for him beyond administering oxygen and giving him an occasional hypodermic injection of morphine.

Due both to the presence of uremic acid and the sedatives empolyed Mr. Sherman lay in a state of coma throughout the greater part of the day. Only twice did he throw off the dense stupor which enthralled him. On neither of the occasions was he conscious for more than a few minutes. During one of the intervals of consciousness he got out of bed and stood on the floor for a brief period. His weakness was such, however, that he was soon compelled to lie down, a circumstance which in itself marked the rapid advance of his malady. Yesterday he walked about his room a great deal and in his delirium insisted upon going down in the street. While in his right mind today he recognized Mrs. Sherman and Dr. Peck and spoke to both in familiar and endearing terms.

The entire Sherman family, consisting of Mrs. Sherman, the three sons and their wives, as well as other relatives, were prepared for the end.

Dr. Peck attributed the crisis in the case entirely to the failure of the kidneys to operate. This condition resulted in filling the system with a virulent poison, which rapidly destroyed the patient's vitality. The poison transformed the hitherto ruddy complexion of the Vice President's face to a dark purple. All day long the Sherman home and the local newspaper offices were deluged with inquiries by telegraph and telephone concerning the condition of the Vice President.

Mr. Sherman's rapid decline in health dated from August 21st, when he was formally notified of his nomination as Vice President, according to Dr. Peck. He was warned the exertion incident to the ceremonies might have an ill effect, but insisted that the programme as arranged be carried out.

"You may know all about medicine," Mr. Sherman told his physician when he urged him to arrange for a brief and informal notification, "but you don't know about politics."

Genuine Regret in Washington

Washington, Oct. 30.—News of Vice President Sherman's death, though it had been expected hourly, was received with profound sorrow in official Washington. At the capitol where every attache considered him a friend, in the government departments where he was a frequent visitor, among the cabinet officers and in the diplomatic corps, where he had many close friends, the announcement will cause genuine regret.

Immediately on receipt of the news Colonel Daniel N. Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, dispatched formal notification to Senator Bacon, temporary presiding officer of the Senate, now in New York on his way back to Georgia after a campaign tour, and asked for instructions. Mr. Bacon will appoint a committee of the Senate to attend the funeral. There is a strong probability that the entire Senate will attend. President Taft and the cabinet are expected to attend, though plans have not been completed.

Chief Justice White, of the Supreme Court, is expected to assign two associate justices to represent the Supreme Court at the funeral.

President Taft will issue a proclamation directing that for 30 days all the United States embassies and legations abroad shall observe mourning.

The flags over the White House, the dome of the capitol and the public buildings in Washington, will be half-masted tomorrow and until the day of the funeral. At all army posts, navy yards, insular possessions and on ships at sea flags will be at half mast on the day of the funeral. The draping of public buildings with mourning is prohibited by law.

Many members of the diplomatic corps are expected to attend the funeral services, though not officially.

The Vice President's death leaves the present Senate without any regular presiding officer. The late Senator Frye's place as president pro tem., never has been filled. Neither Senator Gallinger, the candidate of the regular Republicans, nor Senator Bacon, the candidate of the Democrats, has been able to command the necessary majority vote. Progressive Republicans have prevented an election. Meanwhile, during the Vice President's several monthrs absence the Senate has been presided over by Senators Gallinger and Bacon alternately by common agreement.

By this agreement Senator Bacon is to preside over the Senate when Congress re-assembles December 2nd.

Therefore, Senator Bacon in charged with the duties of that office now and to him will fall making arrangements for the Senate's participation in the funeral ceremonies.

According to the constitution the succession to the Vice Presidency now goes to Secretary Knox, of the State Department, who also figures as a Presidential possibility should the election throw the contest into the House.

Mr. Sherman was the fifth Vice President whose death in office shocked the nation. Vice President King died during Pierce's administration; Vice President Wilson died during that of Grant; Vice President Hendricks during that of Cleveland and Vice President Hobart during McKinley's first term.

Sketch of Sherman's Life.

The 27th Vice President of the United States and the only one re-nominated, was christened James Schoolcraft Sherman. But, in nearly a quarter of a century of public life, "Jim" Sherman he was to his intimates, and probably half the Nation referred to him as "Sunny Jim", a sobriquet he earned as one well might imagine by a never-failing all-year-round sunny disposition.

Sherman belonged to the school of Republicanism nowadays popularly called "regular", and he fought his political battles shoulder to shoulder with men of his faith without compromise or flinching. Like every public man, he had critics, some bitter; but he also had friends who were a match for his enemies. The events he helped shape are so comparatively recent that history cannot assign him to his proper place until it also records the work of his contemporaries.

To the House of Representatives of the 50th Congress, he came in the Winter of 1887, just passed his 32nd birthday, with the energy and optimism of youth, college bred from the halls of Hamilton, which has given to public life many other statesmen and public figures, none without some mark of distinction. He had been elected mayor of Utica two years before. Like many others who came to lead in the National Legislature, he brought with him an education in law. He was well born and well bred. His father, Richard U. Sherman, was an editor and public figure in New York State.

Two sessions of Congress found Sherman defeated and out of office, but not for long. Henry W. Bentley, of Boonville, Oneida county, beat him by less than a thousand votes in the race for the 52nd Congress. In the interim, Sherman went back to Utica, built up his law practice, and returned to the 53rd Congress with a signal victory He remained in the House without defeat to the 60th Congress, when he was nominated and elected Vice President on the ticket with Mr. Taft.

His first years in the House brought him into close association with leaders. Joseph W. Bailey, later a Senator; Breckenridge, Bryan, Bourke Cockran, Crisp, Dalzell, Dingley, Dolliver, Henderson, Payne, Paynter, Raynor, Reed, Wadsworth, "Fighting Joe" Wheeler and a score of others whose names became household words in discussion of the tariff and other National policies were his fellows. The Senate held such men as Aldrich, Allison, Cockrell, Daniel, Frye, Gorman, Hoar, Hill, Teller, Vest and Wolcott. All were not Republicans, but all were "Jim" Sherman's friends, and in such an environment he worked to a high place in the councils and finally was number one of the Big Five in the House.

Cannon, Dalzell, Payne, Sherman and Tawney were the great quintette during the comparatively recent years in which Congress was Republican. Each of them invariably wore a red carnation for a boutonniere, and when Sherman went to preside over the Senate and occupy the coveted marble room in the other wing of the Capitol he took the custom with him and the flower always appeared at every session of the upper House.

Any review of Sherman's life would not be complete without a reference to his work in the House. Briefly, there is recorded no time when he moved the galleries to applause by a debate from the floor, or changed any votes by eloquence. But the statutes bear marks of his work in committee and caucus, and the results of his labors on the Rules Committee, the Inter-State Commerce Committee and other branches of the machinery of the House where real legislation is done, while speeches prevail upon the floor.

It is not to be said he was no campaigner. In New York State politics he was a leading figure. He was known in other States. His appearances in campaigns, State and National, were not infrequent. He was at one time chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee. He always was active in the New York State Republican conventions and a figure at all National gatherings of the party.

Sherman went to preside over the Senate just about a time when what popularly is known as Senatorial dignity was beginning to feel its first break. In the chair, Sherman was dignity itself, fair in his rulings, his colleagues said; quiet, firm, sure and seldom reversed an appeal. But dignity so far as the traditional Senatorial frock coat and silk hat were concerned generally was absent. He regarded his time presiding over the Senate as a day's business, to be attended to as if he were sitting in his bank in Utica or at the directors' table of one of the many enterprises in which he had found a fortune and laid the foundations of another for his sons. He usually appeared in a business suit, on a hot day he came in flannels, on a very hot day a palm leaf fan displaced the gavel and perhaps a glass of lemonade toped off the book of rules. Other Senators, reluctant, perhaps, to transgress staid custom, fell in with his ideas, and nowadays on a blistering Washington Summer day the Senate chamber looks like a business body.

The illness which proved fatal was little known of in Washington until the last few months. Mr. Sherman was not present during the closing days of the last session, and the Senate without a president pro tem, by the death of Frye, and unable to agree upon a successor, got along by temporary agreements placing some Senator in the chair for two weeks at a time. When he disappeared, seeking rest and health in vain, Sherman was genuinely missed about the Capitol, in the departments, at the White House, where he was a frequent caller and always exchanged a new joke with President Taft, and on the streets where he often walked. In a hurry he used a motor, but it was an occurrence of an ordinary day with Congress in session to meet Sherman walking down Pennsylvania Avenue, often alone, rosy cheeked and cheerful, returning the salutations of scores who knew him by sight, though of him as "Sunny Jim" and greeted him—"Good morning, Mr. President"—and the passerby who recognized him was greeted as heartily as the Senator who might be next.

Vice President Sherman was born in Utica on October 24th, 1855. He was married in 1881 to Carrie Babcock at East Orange, N. J. They have three sons, Sherrill, Richard U. and Thomas M., all living and in business in Utica. The Vice President was an Elk, a trustee of Hamilton College, a member of the Dutch Reformed church, a member of many clubs and a business man of wide interest.

the streets was greeted with cheering that penetrated the hall and brought an answering cheer.

As he came up onto the high platform through a rear stairway, the Gardens became a bedlam of sound and a mass of waving color.

With a broad smile the colonel stepped forward and waved his hand in salute. The cheers grew in volume. His gestures for the crowd to be seated intensified the noise. He insisted upon standing in his efforts to bring the crowd to order.

The demonstration for the colonel lasted 42 minutes. Col. Roosevelt, after a request to the police to keep order in the hall, began speaking and spoke for half an hour.

Colonel Rests In New York

So as to have ample time to rest after his trip from Oyster Bay before his speech making task of the night, Colonel Roosevelt left Sagamore Hill by mid-afternoon and reached New York at 7:40 o'clock. From the train he went at once to the home of Dr Alex. Lambert in East 31st street, near Madison Square Garden. The colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt took dinner with Dr. Lambert and remained there until the hour of the meeting.

After dinner Dr. Lambert dressed Colonel Roosevelt's wound and pronounced him in fit shape for his evening's work.

Colonel Roosevelt, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, went by automobile from Sagamore Hill to the station at Oyster Bay. They made the trip to New York in a private car under the protection of three detectives.

The car was cut off from the regular train at Jamaica and brought as a special to the Pennsylvania terminal that the colonel might avoid the crowd in the station. His arrival was unknown to any one except half a hundred station employes who cheered him as he walked from his car to the automobile

The police and the private detectives retained to protect Colonel Roosevelt took every precaution for his safety. Policemen were scattered along the way from the station to Dr. Lambert's house and there were a dozen men on guard while the colonel was within. Colonel Roosevelt went to Madison Square Garden with Dr. Lambert, George Roosevelt, his cousin, and William J. Burns, the detective. An automobile filled with detectives preceded him. Mrs. Roosevelt left a few minutes ahead of her husband and went to the box which had been reserved for the colonel's family.

FUSION DEAL PUNCTURED.

Deep Laid Scheme of G. O. P. in This State Fails.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—A deep-laid scheme to give the Democrats of North Carolina a run for their money in the last days of the campaign has gone up in thin air. It would not work.

If the plan which fell through yesterday had won out, Thomas Settle would have been the only gubernatorial candidate in the field against Mr Craig and Theodore Roosevelt would have received the bulk of the Republican vote of the State for President.

Things were moving nicely and rapidly when some loyal Taft men and some anti-Roosevelt Republican leaders punctured the whole plan and let out the wind of the sails that bore it up.

Republicans now in Washington do not seem to know anything about how the deal came to strike a snag but they realize that something has happened.

Hurried conferences that were to have been held in Washington were called off and the North Carolina politicians who were coming for advice and comfort from Senator Marion Butler and others here did not appear. A lost, strayed or stolen advertisement was run for Zeb Vance Walser.

Gentle newspaper tips that came early proved valueless. The indications are that E. C. Duncan and John Motley Morehead, anti-Roosevelt men are working together nowadays.

DEATH AT DUNN

Mr. A. R. Wilson Passes—Missionary Union—Big Prices for Lots

Dunn, N. C., Oct. 30.—In the death of Mr. A. R. Wilson, the first of the week, Dunn loses one of her first citizens. Mr. Wilson came to Dunn when it was but a village and has been identified with the business interests of the town for several years. Mr. Wilson was postmaster for two terms, and at the time of his death was engaged in the buggy and harness business. He was married twice; the first time to Miss Jones, of Bunnlevel, from which union there were born seven children; the second marriage was to Miss Barnes, of Dunn, who survives him with one son. The funeral was from the home and the burial at Greenwood cemetery.

The Woman's Missionary Society of Little River Baptist Association met in Dunn last Friday and continued in session until Monday. Rev. C. E. Maddrey and Archibald Johnson were the out-of-town speakers. A large number of out-of-town delegates were present and the meeting was quite a success.

We do not appreciate the value of old mother earth until we have a lot sale and see how much a little two-by-four lot in the edge of town brings. One of our real estate agents had a sale last Saturday of about 40 lots on the outskirts of town, and from the prices the property brought you might imagine that we are near New York.
